May be requested to act as the Acting Supervising Administrative Law Judge when the Supervising Administrative Law Judge is absent from the office. Keep current and up-to-date on case law, statutory law, rules and regulations, rating schedule, departmental policies, and the policy and procedure manual; perform other job related duties as assigned.

Conduct, Attendance, and Performance Expectations

The State of California adheres to a number of laws and policies that are designed to promote a safe, comfortable, and professional work environment for all employees. As a state employee, you are responsible for keeping management reasonably apprised of your schedule and whereabouts and must respond to directions from management to complete work assignments. This includes adhering to the set work scheduled established and agreed upon by your supervisor to meet DIR operational needs, including related meal and rest periods. You may be required to record time for purposes such as, but not limited to, case or project tracking.

You are expected to behave courteously and responsibly at all times. Remember that the image of an organization rests upon the behavior of the employees who represent it. You and your supervisor will participate in the regular employee appraisal process throughout your career. This gives you and your supervisor an opportunity to discuss your job performance and career development.

Supervision Received

The Administrative Law Judge reports directly to and receives the majority of assignments from the Supervising Administrative Law Judge; however, direction and assignments may also come from the Associate Chief Judge, Chief Judge or on occasion the Administrative Director.
