General Statement

Under the supervision of the Presiding Workers' Compensation Judge, and receiving general direction from Associate Chief Judge, the Management Services Technician (MST) will learn and perform the less technical semi-professional analytical tasks as it relates to Public Records Act requests received for the assigned district office. The Management Services Technician, serving as the Public Records Act Coordinator, is responsible for effectively responding to Public Records Act (PRA) requests by reviewing and assessing all incoming requests according to the Government Code, Article 6250 on a timely and accurate basis using data and information gathered through research and analysis. The MST duties, include but not limited to, the following:

Candidates must be able to perform the following essential functions with or without reasonable accommodations.

Percentage of Time Spent	Duties Essential Job Functions
40 %	Review and assess incoming Public Requests Act (PRA) requests for information on cases filed with and contained in the Workers' Compensation Appeals Board (WCAB) record to determine legal sufficiency. Interpret and apply rules and laws surrounding the Public Records Act, Labor Code statutes, court rules and procedures to determine whether information requested may be legally released. Consult with requestor for additional information if needed. Research all data sources including EAMS and conduct a preliminary assessment of which records can be provided and if the requestor is entitled to any records that must be redacted. Consult with the Presiding Workers' Compensation Judge or Associate Chief Judge to collaboratively review the information pulled to officially determine whether the information requested may be released. Once the determination has been made, redact relevant records in compliance with state and workers' compensation laws. Review and evaluate requests from the public for records for pre-employment screening. Assess what records may be released and what redactions are needed from a legal assessment. Draft appropriate notices regarding these records and issue once approval is received. For records that a party is seeking from a sealed case, communicate and advise the parties of the procedures for obtaining those records through proper petition and then forward that information to the Presiding Judge for ruling on the request. Independently respond with the necessary notices under PRA law to notify individuals of the status of their request within the timeframes established by State law. If records are located in the
